

January 27, 2010 Volume 16, Issue 4

Membership News

NMA Welcomes Strata Energy and Custom Truck and Equipment Company as Newest Members

NMA welcomes this week Strata Energy, which is owned by Peninsula Minerals, Ltd, a mineral exploration company listed on the Australian Stock Exchange. Strata Energy is developing the Lance Project, a uranium project in Crook County, northeast of Gillette. The company is currently carrying out ore resource delineation activities, permit applications and pre-feasibility studies. Strata Energy's offices are located in Gillette, Wyo. More information on the company is available at: Strata Energy.

Custom Truck & Equipment Company supplies vocational trucks, cranes and construction equipment to both surface and underground operations nationwide. The equipment is custom built service trucks fitted with telescopic boom cranes, storage compartments, welders and air compressors. CTE also supplies compact construction equipment, dump truck and parts. The company employs 200 people and is located in Kansas City, Mo. More information on the company is available at: Custom Truck and Equipment Co.

Arch Coal Donates to Haiti Relief

The Arch Coal Foundation this week contributed $10,000 to the Red Cross for Haiti disaster relief. The foundation, formed in December 2005 with an initial endowment of $5 million, donates funds to support organizations aimed at improving the standards of living for communities in need.

Newmont Announces Organizational Changes

Newmont Executive Vice President, Legal and External Affairs Alan Blank last week announced that Steve Gottesfeld has been named vice president and general counsel and will head up the company's global legal effort. Omar Jabara was named group executive of corporate communications, and Mary Beth Donnelly, Newmont USA Limited's vice president of government affairs, will continue to run the company's Washington, D.C., office and will support the company's efforts to develop a global government relations function.

Eurotire Announces Organizational Changes

Eurotire recently announced several additions to the organization's senior management group, including Kent B. Henschen as vice president of marketing and corporate communications; Tom Sawyer as global service engineer; and Randy Toelle as global service engineer.